New Pontoon Beach government begins

Numerous members of Wilson administration to be ousted, several positions to be abolished

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

Newly elected officials in Pontoon Beach are expected to be sworn in during a special meeting today.

In addition, a number of other changes are also expected, including the appointments of a new village attorney and chief of police and the elimination of five positions, all now held by supporters of outgoing Mayor Glen Wilson.

The meeting, set for 7 p.m. at the village hall, was called by outgoing Village Trustees Gus Falter, Irene Karlechik and Randy Presswood.

In last week's elections, Wilson and Presswood were defeated by retired police captain Jim Denham. Candidates on Denham's ticket, the New Beginnings Party, swept the ballot.

A notice for the special meeting said that in addition to installing newly elected officers, other business would be:

- Appointing a new police chief and village attorney
- Abolishing the position of assistant liquor commissioner.

Abolishing the position of part-time clerk in the controller's office.

Abolishing two building inspector positions for residential and occupancy.

Denham declined comment, saying he would talk about it after the meeting tonight.

Outgoing village attorney Brian Polinske said he was not surprised by the action and said Tuesday that he planned to submit his resignation the following day.

"Nothing really surprises me, I'm not taken unawares," Polinske said. "It takes a load off, I can tell you that."

Falter said he believes the incoming officials want to get rid of "a lot of the excess weight" in the village administration.

"I think this is the beginning of a new beginning, at least I hope it is," Falter said.

Coats may be banned GC schools discuss move

By Mike Hill
Staff writer

The Granite City School Board may institute an immediate ban on trench coats at its May 11 board meeting in response to Tuesday's suburban Denver high school massacre.

As many as 25 students from a Littleton, Colo., high school may have been killed by two high school juniors who gunned them down on school grounds. The students who opened fire were draped in trench coats and were alleged to have been members of a clique known as the "Trench Coat Mafia."

"If trench coats are being used as gang graffiti and uniforms, then I think we have to treat them like any other gang-related colors and consider a ban on them," said Granite City School Superintendent Steve Balen.

Balen said he would meet during the week with Granite City Chief of Police Dave Ruebhausen and possibly school counselors and public figures to discuss measures to prevent the Columbine tragedy and to discuss a

Jury indicts six

Chemetco Inc. named in violation

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

Indictments against Chemetco Inc. and six people for conspiring to dump contaminated water into Long Lake were handed down by a federal grand jury Wednesday.

The indictments come almost a month after another man involved in the case pleaded guilty to violating the U.S. Clean Water Act.

In addition to the company charged were company president Denis L. Feron, 71, of Beers, Belgium; Gary L. Reed, 56, of Collinsville; George J. Bond Jr., 54, of East Alton; Roger K. Copeland, 46, of Cottage Hills; Kevin A. Youngman, 43, of Highland; and plant manager Bruce W. Hendrickson, 46, of Granite City.

All are charged with conspiring to violate the Clean Water Act by discharging pollutants, including heavy metals lead, cadmium and zinc, through a secret pipe into Long Lake.

In addition, the company, Bond, Copeland, Youngman and Hendrickson with actual violations of the Clean Water Act, Chemetco and Hendrickson are also charged with two counts of making false statements to the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency and the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

On March 25, Ira Sidney Campbell, 56, of Brighton, pleaded guilty in U.S. District Court in East St. Louis to an information warrant charging him with the felony of conspiring with Chemetco Inc., a secondary copper smelting plant located on Illinois 3 near the Lewis and Clark Historic Site, and others to violate the Clean Water Act.

At the time, a spokesman for the U.S. Attorney's Office said the Collinsville Avenue rename encounters resistance

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

A proposal to rename Collinsville Avenue for the late Wayne Lanter hit a snag

after the two black members of the Madison City Council objected. Alderman Ted Ostrenga had made a motion to rename the street, but Aldermen Norris Horton and Roschelle Williams

Gardner protested, saying Lanter "had not been sensitive" to the needs of the city's black residents.

Lanter, a Belleville businessman who started as a milkman and built his company into one of a half-dozen "national players" in the specialty warehousing and distribution business, died Feb. 23, 1998.

Renaming a street in his honor had been brought up before, but never acted on. "I think it's going to cause a lot of hard feelings," Horton said.

He said some of the problems stem from disputes with neighbors over signs and road closings near Lanter Company warehouses. Other problems relate to what he said were hiring and promotion practices in the company under Lanter.

After some discussion, the council agreed to ask Lanter officials to speak with the council at a Committee of the Whole meeting at 6 p.m. Wednesday.

In other business, the council approved a resolution for the city to take responsibility for Fox Industrial Drive after the owners complete an estimated $26,000 in upgrades.

Longtime teacher bids GC goodbye

Mason recalls memories of growing up, living in Granite City area.

By Mike Hill
Staff writer

Metella Mason has lived in Granite City most of her 70 years, having been born in a two-story flat in West Granite.

Mason has many memories of those bygone years indelibly etched in her mind. Mason, who taught kindergarten for 23 years at the old Nameoki School, will soon take those memories and a myriad of others with her to Murphysboro. Mason will soon reside there so that she can be closer to her children and grandchildren.

"I've seen changes in the city, and I can still see my mother doing the things she used to do," Metella said. "The time seemed to zip by so, so fast."

Mason said she vividly remembers the evening of Oct. 30, 1938, in which Orson Welles' infamous CBS Mercury Theater of the Air radio broadcast of the H.G. Wells classic "War of the Worlds" caused panic and hysteria in many communities, resulting in public outcry about what many perceived as a Martian invasion.

Mason said her mother, Alberta, was one to have been frightened during that evening 60 years ago.

We had a radio on top the refrigerator. After my mom listened to the program, she ran outside and kept staring at the sky," Mason recalled. "I could see by the look on her face that she was scared and upset."

Metella said she also remembers her mother distributing food to hoboes during the Great Depression and dressing in her Sunday finest to attend Sunday school.

About 600 poems and multitude of songs that she has written will accompany her. Some are reflections of her past, as well as recent memories.

Several poems have been published in newspapers and periodical entertainment sections.

As an example, "Silver Rainbow," a poem depicting the westward expansion centering on the Gateway Arch and the Lewis and Clark expedition, was published in a periodical for the VP Fair (now Fair St. Louis) and the VP Parade.

Another poem, "Lucky Lady," salutes the Statue of Liberty. The poem is featured in a collection of historical memorabilia about the grandiose lady in the museum on Ellis Island.

Mason said she has been able to write those poems, as well as other poetry and music, through her faith in the man upstairs.

"I'm a Christian, and God helps me," she said. "I've never studied music or poetry. Everything I've written has come through his guidance."

Of her materials, Mason said, she is particularly proud

Top 10 reasons why state roads are so horrible

If you want more economic development, fix infrastructure

By Mark Wilson

Some recent articles in the Collinsville Journal have convinced me that this area is not the place to settle down.

First off, state legislators decided against projects critically needed for Illinois 157 and Illinois 159.

Secondly, we have the great Maryville mystery of what development will occur near the new YMCA complex on Illinois 159 near Interstate 55/70.

While this is a great boon to the area, there's no mention of increased traffic flow and what improvements are planned to handle it.

I can see future backups on Illinois 159 extending south beyond the I-55/70 overpass and north into Maryville.

Obviously, the "master plan" for the Metro East is that small towns on overburdened state highways are to sit and beg for developers to arrive. Then the local mayors simply "wing it" as it happens.

Meanwhile, the traffic worsens and hurts established businesses. Then the state leadership hasn't got the guts to ask the taxpayers to fund improvements to support their economy and the quality of life goes downhill fast.

There's a rural-to-urban transformation going on here and it doesn't appear anyone recognizes this. It's a mistake if people think their economic future can be built on "farmer" roads and crack-riddled highways.

The following "top 10" list should explain why this new resident will soon depart.

The Top 10 reasons why Illinois' roads are the worst in the nation

- 10. Gravel (nationally known as a braking hazard) is a cherished state treasure, since it's ubiquitous at intersections, shoulders, gutters and storm drains and is far more visible than most pavement markings.
- 9. The response to winter's "freeze and thaw" phenomenon is a complete lack of crack-sealing, which is essentially a state effort to destroy its own roads.
- 8. Gullible residents would rather invest in tires and costly suspension repairs than suffer the oppressive pennies of fuel use taxes.
- 7. The post-apocalyptic conditions of IDOT facilities, lots and equipment, especially the Maryville yard, clearly show the state's idea of stewardship.
- 6. Despite Illinois' outstanding achievements in technological, medical, educational and recreational areas, a "cutting edge" engineering solution to prevent potholes remains completely out of reach.
- 5. Most townships rely on narrow oil and gravel roads to handle big rigs, dump trucks, school buses, trash haulers, bicycles, joggers and cars — simultaneously. And they look perfect next to a new $300,000 home.
- 4. Only when Illinois 159 enters complete gridlock from Belleville to Glen Carbon and small businesses rapidly die off will the political leadership fund improvements that should have been completed a decade ago.
- 3. Shoveling loose asphalt into a hole and letting the public pack it down at 55 mph-plus ranks as the state's grandest technological achievement of the millennium (the exception being opportune roadkill gravity-sealing a nearby crack).
- 2. Three unofficial runners-up for a new state motto contest might be:
 - Welcome to Illinois. End of state maintenance.
 - Welcome to the Land of Lincoln. Welcome to his roads.
 - Illinois welcomes you. We've always done it this way.
- 1. Longtime residents and politicians often don't know any better, are unwilling to commit resources and new ideas to their economic future and are proud of their primitive infrastructure.

A certainly Ugly contest for a good cause

Edwardsville bar again taking part in annual MS competition

Of all the joints in the world, I had to walk in this. And there he was, at mid-morning, cleaning the place up. Wearing a baseball cap, khaki shorts and a tee shirt suggesting "Kiss me, I'm ugly."

I didn't, though I have in the past and probably will again in the future. After all, he isn't really ugly, just losing a little hair.

"What's this I hear, you've jumped the gun this year." I asked, and Bob Earnhart ceased sweeping and sat down to explain.

"Had to. They changed the date this year for opening the competition and I HAD to get the miniature golf tourney over before the weather got too pleasant to draw a crowd, so I had it as an opener March 28. Officially, we don't start this spring until May 15, much later than traditionally."

Bob was talking about the "Ugly Bartender" annual fund-raiser for Multiple Sclerosis, of course, which this year won't end until June 15. The opener was a smash, he said.

"Of all the participating businesses and organizations, Vanzo's took first place again, for the fifth year in a row. I think Jungle setting this time, vines and shrubs, life-size papier-mache lion, toy snakes, and Vickie dressed like Jane, straight out of Tarzan."

The agenda for the '99 season includes a repeat of a number of Bob's usual and popular events. Ongoing dart tournaments at Earnie's Restaurant and Bar in Hamel. Guest bartenders on every Saturday night. A Bowlington at Cottonwood Lanes in Glen Carbon, date to be announced, but pledge sheets are available at Earnie's.

The final event, the annual barbecue and auction, is set for June 13 at Earnie's with the customary entertainment. Music, dunk tank, horseshoes and "whatever else I can think up." Carry-outs will be available.

The "biggie" will be the 14th annual golf scramble at Oak Brook Golf Club, to be held June 6. Tee time will be 8 a.m., and the cost will be $60 per person, four-person teams. The cost covers 18 holes with cart, beer (while it lasts, Bob says), prizes, and a sandwich buffet at Earnie's beginning at 4 p.m.

Among the prizes is a '99 Cub Cadet lawn mower for closest-to-the-pin. For the REALLY lucky golfer, though, are four hole-in-one prizes for which Bob thanks the Four Flags car dealership in Glen Carbon.

"Through their connections, those include '99 Buick Century, a three-day golf vacation to Pohniet, a set of Maxfli torque aren't irons, and a seven-day golf vacation for two in Aruba," he detailed. Deadline for registration for the scramble is May 15 at Earnie's.

Bob is smarting a tad from his loss of the title of "ugliest" bartender in the area, beat out last year by a tie between Marx Brothers bar of Highland and Missouri's Pizza Shack. "They each raised $35,000 in last year's contest, so, naturally, that's my goal this year."

He admits that in his 15 years of raising money for MS, the most he's raised in a single year was $18,000. But when you take into consideration that to date, he's raised a total of $180,000 for the cause and that he is as competitive as they come, I wouldn't bet against him regaining his crown.

Carol Clarkin of Edwardsville is a retired newspaper editor and reporter.

Letter to the Editor

Thanks to every Hospice volunteer

TO THE EDITOR:

April is National Volunteer Month and I want to take this opportunity to thank the most wonderful volunteers in the world: those individuals who volunteer for Hospice programs.

Hospice programs provide comfort care to patients who are near life's end and also help care for patients' families. Hospice volunteers truly believe in the philosophy that all people deserve to leave this world the same way they entered it: surrounded by love. We thank them for all the love they give.

Hospice volunteers show their love by reading to the patients, talking with them and listening to them. Volunteers make cookies, breads and other goodies to the patients and their families.

You've made such a difference with your special warmth and care. We thank you for your services and for all the time you share. You're a shining inspiration for all the work you do.

Carrier deal comes as big surprise to local museum

Equipment had been in storage at Price Center

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY An agreement between the federal government and a St. Louis-based company over an armored personnel carrier that was part of the Armed Forces Museum of St. Louis has come as a surprise to museum officials.

On Tuesday, United States Attorney W. Charles Grace announced in a press release that his office and Systems and Electronics Inc. of St. Louis had agreed that the company would relinquish possession of a prototype M113 Armored Personnel Carrier — complete with a Hellfire Missile Launching System — to the U.S. Department of Defense.

The vehicle had been on loan to the museum and was housed at the Charles Melvin Price Support Center.

Grace said federal law requires such vehicles not in the possession of the military to be "de-militarized," meaning its weapons systems cannot function.

Paul Fairbanks, a paralegal specialist with the U.S. Attorney's Office, said Wednesday that the vehicle was going back to the Department of Defense, where it would be "de-militarized to the point where there wouldn't be any use in having it."

Retired Civil Air Patrol Capt. C.N. Venable, director of the museum, said the company, a subsidiary of Emerson Electric, gave them the vehicle in 1994. "It had been sitting in a warehouse for a couple of years," he said. "We had a beautiful picture of it firing missiles in Israel."

He said SEI developed the firing system for the weapon system. He said they were especially interested in it because it was a local company.

Venable said Wednesday that nobody had talked to them about the vehicle. "As far as I know, it's still at the Price Center being held for us," he said. "We're in the dark."

Court order halts downtown Granite furniture store's sale

By Curtiss A. Hartley
Staff writer

A Granite City furniture store is trying to hold a going-out-of-business sale.

GRANITE CITY An area bank has other ideas, however.

Granite City Home Furnishings, located in downtown Granite City, has been holding a going-out-of-business sale Monday when Madison County sheriff's deputies and Granite City police rolled up, armed with repossession orders from Mercantile Bank, ordered a halt to the sale and began to seize assets from the store.

"All I can tell you is that Mercantile Bank came in and seized all the assets," Frederick H. Korte of Alton said.

Korte is the principal stockholder in Granite City Home Furnishings.

"I'm not there, so I don't know all the particulars," Korte said. "I have a major investment, but I don't know all the ramifications."

His son, Mark Korte, who manages the store, declined comment when reached at the store Tuesday.

Workers load merchandise from Granite City Home Furnishings into a van following the issuance of a court order Monday afternoon. The repossession of the furniture effectively halted a going-out-of-business sale at the downtown Granite City store.

Court records in the Madison County Circuit Clerk's office show that Mercantile Bank has filed suit to recover nearly $70,000 on a loan. Korte's home, located at 1522 Highland Ave. in Alton, was used as collateral, the records show.

She was taken into custody of April 15, the bank is seeking $66,368.20 in principal, $2,587.33 in interest and a late fee charge of $331.70. The furniture store opened at 1842 State St. Dec. 10, 1985, according to Korte. His son, Mark Korte, manages the store.

The store was planning to hold a liquidation sale this week before Mercantile stepped in with the court order on Monday.

NAMEOKI LENTEN STATEMENT OF CONFESSION

We, at Nameoki United Methodist Church, ask for your forgiveness.
Where we have offended you,
where we have ignored your hurt,
where we failed to greet you and welcome you, when you sought God and we did not show you the way,
where we were angry or self-centered,
where we allowed to feel that you were not cherished, where we were a barrier to Christ instead of a bridge to Christ,
we ask for your forgiveness.

The Season of Lent is a time of reflection,
self-examination,
repentance,
and a time of seeking God's mercy and God's grace.

"You do not want sacrifices,
or I would offer them;
you are not pleased with burnt offerings.
My sacrifice is a humble spirit, O God;
you will not reject a humble and repentant heart."

Police Blotter

Granite City Police

PROBATION VIOLATION: Michael Pinion, 41, of 3407 Brown, was arrested Tuesday evening on a fugitive warrant.

Pinion was wanted in Jasper County, Mo., on a probation violation. He was taken into custody by Granite City Police at about 10 p.m.

TRUANCY: Vickie Meyers, 34, of 1712 Delmar, was arrested Tuesday evening on a truancy warrant in Madison County.

Meyers was taken into custody by Granite City Police at about 8 p.m.

FAILURE TO APPEAR: Kristina Moore, 26, of 321 Dry St., was arrested Tuesday evening on an in-state warrant for failure to appear in regard to not having auto insurance.

She was taken into custody by Granite City Police about 8 p.m.

BURGLARY: A burglary occurred in the 500 block of Cleveland Monday afternoon in which $229 worth of items were stolen from an apartment.

The theft occurred about 4 p.m. Items stolen were a VCR and television.

According to a Granite City police report, two persons tried to pawn the items, but could not. The owner of the pawnbrokerage contacted the police.

The case is currently under investigation by the Granite City Police Department.

POSSESSION OF CANNIBAS: Mary Toland, 38, of 2211 Missouri Ave., was charged Tuesday with unlawful possession of cannabis.

An officer, according to a Granite City police report, was dispatched to the 2200 block of Missouri in regard to a suspicious van parked in the area. After speaking to Toland, who was the driver of the vehicle, the officer smelled what he perceived to be marijuana inside the van.

Searching it, he found a green leafy substance and rolling papers. Toland was subsequently taken into custody.

POSSESSION OF CANNIBAS: Robert Peek, 26, of 2124 Delmar, was charged Monday with unlawful possession of cannabis.

Peek was pulled over about 9 p.m. Monday on an outstanding warrant. The officer who pulled Peek over noticed him pushing something under the car seat as he spoke to the suspect.

While searching the vehicle, the officer found cannabis in the back seat. Peek was taken into custody.

POSSESSION OF A STOLEN VEHICLE: Trevon Williams, 25, of 1516 Second St., Madison, was charged Monday with fleeing and eluding police, resisting a police officer and possession of a stolen vehicle.

An officer equipped with a radar gun registered a maroon vehicle occupied by Williams speeding in the northbound lane near the North Street overpass about 8 a.m.

According to a Granite City police report, the vehicle was clocked at approximately 80 miles per hour.

contingency plan in case a Littleton-style situation did occur.

"This board is really not one to ignore anything that will make our school safe for its students," Balen said. "Our profile list is an example."

In February, the district received a profile list from the federal government to curtail violence in its schools and developed a policy based on the list. The list enables educators to help identify students possibly prone to violence.

Some list characteristics include depression, uncontrollable behavior, angry outbursts and mood swings. According to district policy, educators must report to the school administration students who demonstrate those tendencies.

Fehling Road signal light turned down during city council meeting

By Mike Heil
Staff writer

A majority of aldermen at Tuesday's night's Granite City Council meeting did not give the green light for the construction of a fully signalized intersection to be built at Fehling Road and Yale Drive.

The aldermen will discuss, and possibly vote on, the issue at the next council meeting, slated for Tuesday. The City Council approved $30,000 in August for a signalized intersection to be built in that area, which is near Wilson Park.

Recently, however, the Illinois Department of Transportation (IDOT) required the crosswalk to be constructed as a fully signalized intersection, in which the city had to supplement an additional $28,000 to pay for construction costs. IDOT's ruling has triggered a council debate whether or not to have the signalized intersection built. Second Ward alderman Craig Tarpo said he does not favor it.

"I cannot go along with spending this kind of money for this kind of light at this intersection," Tarpo said. "I could come up with 100 other parts of town that are more heavily traveled."

Seventh Ward alderman Kim MacTaggart echoed Tarpo's sentiments. "This isn't a $150 stop sign that the street department was made to put up. This is a $38,000 light," MacTaggart said.

"Even though I hate to vote no on it, economically, I have to," Fifth Ward alderman

Eddie Assadorian was also in disfavor. "We don't need to put a fully functional traffic light stopping traffic in that area," Assadorian said. "There are many streets that are more difficult to cross than Fehling Road."

Aldermen were presented with petitions, signed by 162 people, in favor of the signalized intersection who live in the vicinity where it may be constructed.

If it is built, the light will remain green until a pedestrian pushes the signal light to cross.

The Granite City Park District, according to City Engineer Joe Jancau, supports it.

Alton woman bilks senior of large bank accounts

By Dennis Grubaugh
Staff writer

Police are looking for a woman who attempted to steal $70,000 from an elderly Alton woman by getting the victim's personal bank accounts transferred to her name.

Details were sketchy Tuesday night, but police were looking for Mary M. Marnino, 48, of the first block of Acton Avenue, Wood River. She was charged late Tuesday in Madison County Circuit Court with theft over $10,000 for allegedly trying to obtain control of the woman's money by gaining access to two different accounts.

In a brief interview, Detective Jerry Cooley of the Alton Police Department said the suspect apparently befriended the 88-year-old woman and gained access to information that enabled her to get the older woman's bank checks and mutual fund statements transferred to her own mailing address. "Evidently, she called these places and had the stuff changed to her own address," Cooley said. Several checks were cashed, which later bounced investigation was "ongoing." Campbell was employed as the superintendent of maintenance by the company. U.S. Attorney Charles Grace said that from about September 1986 to September 18, 1996, the facility discharged pollutants including zinc, lead and cadmium into Long Lake through a secret pipe.

A spokesman for the U.S. Attorney's Office said he believed that the portion of Long Lake involved had been cut off from the larger part of the lake that goes through Pontoon Beach into Horseshoe Lake and the potential contamination was confined to a limited area of the cutoff lake and adjacent wetlands. The indictment alleges that in September 1986, Feron told Campbell to use several employees from his own business, Industrial Fabrication and Repair Inc., to install the secret discharge pipe at Chemetco. The indictment also charged that the company and Hendrickson "falsely claimed not to have known about the secret discharge pipe and its use and falsely claimed that the discovered discharge was accidental."

Campbell left the company in 1988, but Chemetco allegedly continued to discharge pollution from the secret pipe until it was discovered by inspectors from the Illinois and U.S. EPAs on Sept. 18, 1996. If convicted on the conspiracy and false statements charges, the defendants face up to five years in prison, up to three years probation, individual fines of up to $250,000 and a corporate fine of up to $500,000 for each count.

For violating the Clean Water Act, the defendants face three years in prison, up to one year probation and fines equal to the conspiracy conviction. The maximum fine can increase, depending on the length of time the violations occurred or the defendants' profit is higher than the fine.

The case was handled by the Environmental Task Force for the Southern District of Illinois and was investigated by special agents of the Illinois State Police, the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the U.S. EPA, the United States Army CID-Major Fraud Unit and the U.S. Department of Transportation.

Judge OKs Madison-Fairmount agreement

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

A St. Clair County judge has approved a boundary agreement between the city of Madison, village of Fairmount City and the St. Clair County State's Attorney's Office. Associate Judge Patrick Young approved the agreement Tuesday.

"It's all official," Madison Mayor John Hamm said at Tuesday's City Council meeting. "At this time, we do have a boundary set up in the south."

The new boundaries will be squared off near the Millam Landfill along Interstate 55/70 in the south, the Lansdowne Ditch, Cahokia Canal, railroad tracks operated by the Cotton Belt Railroad and Illinois 3.

The agreement will give Madison exclusive rights to annex property just west of Gateway International Raceway and north of the boundary.

As part of the agreement, Fairmount City agreed to become a co-defendant in the annexation lawsuit filed against Madison by the State's Attorney's office.

The agreement will allow both communities to concentrate on economic development in the area, Hamm said.

Because of the proposed new Mississippi River Bridge, redevelopment of the St. Louis National Stockyards and the relocation of Illinois 3, a great deal of development is expected to occur in the area, although it may take several years to begin.

THE LAW AND YOU

By RICK REED
Attorney At Law

If a homeowner is taking care of a dog for another person and the dog bites someone on the homeowner's property, is the homeowner responsible for the injury to the guest? In one recent case, two boys owned a Rottweiler that bit a six year old girl on the face at the home of the boys' mother (Defendant). About an hour before a dinner party of the Defendant, one of her sons brought the dog to her home.

In this case, the defendant was not aware that the dog was to be delivered to her. For about an hour before dinner, the Rottweiler wandered around the house and did not growl, snarl, or threaten anyone. After dinner, the six year old plaintiff got up from the table and as she was walking past the dog, the dog lunged at her, knocked her down, and bit her face.

According to testimony at the trial, the dog was a friendly dog who had never bitten anyone. When the young girl tried to squeeze past the dog, she was carrying a piece of turkey by her mouth, and the Rottweiler growled and went for it. Should the defendant homeowner be held responsible for the dog bite in this situation?

The plaintiff claimed that because the defendant homeowner "knowingly permitted" the dog to be on her property, she should be considered an "owner" of the dog. However, the Appellate Court disagreed. The Court noted that where the actual owner of the animal is present and in control of it, the property owner cannot be considered an "owner" merely because the property owner had permitted the animal to be on the premises.

Furthermore, the Appellate Court noted that a dog is presumed to be harmless unless evidence is presented that the dog has demonstrated vicious tendencies in the past. For the defendant to be held responsible in this case, the injured plaintiff would need to establish that the defendant knew or had reason to know that the dog would be dangerous to children.

The undisputed facts here showed that the dog was friendly to the guests. He did not threaten anyone in the two hours prior to the attack. Under these circumstances, the Court concluded that the plaintiff failed to demonstrate that the defendant had reason to know the attack would occur.

of one musical piece, even though it was not been published. The piece, she said, is called "Granite City, You're a Grand Old Town." It's a toe-tapping, hand-clapping song illustrating landmarks of the blue-collar community. "I love Granite City. That's why I wrote the song. It may be a steel town, but it's a good town with good people," Mason said. "It's been my town for 46 years."

48th National Day of Prayer set May 6

By Mike Hail
Staff writer

People in general probably do not realize that George Washington rose at 5 a.m. to pray for an hour each day and Bible at hand. In the evening, after dinner, he would again pray for an hour.

Millions of Americans will be on their knees praying May 6 as they take part in the 48th annual National Day of Prayer.

This year's theme is "Light

the Nation with Prayer."

The National Day of Prayer organization in Colorado Springs, Colo., asks for Christians to meet at their local city hall to pray for America's rebirth.

Christians who live in the Tri-City area and would like to participate should meet at City Hall, where the event will take place from 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Area pastors and lay people will join as one to lead in prayer.

Marly Bridges, one of three Granite City National Day of Prayer organizers, said that setting aside an hour for a national day of prayer is important for all communities.

"Because of the moral decline in the country, we feel like more than ever we need God's guidance," Bridges said.

Last year about 120 Christians gathered outside City Hall.

County Board members rip Bathon over recent actions

Henke: He has more conferences than McGwire

By Paul Mackie
Staff writer

Madison County Board members lashed out Wednesday at Treasurer Fred Bathon, who they say has acted inappropriately as an official in recent months. "The board needs to take a harder look at what goes on in that office," said Robert Stille, D-Edwardsville. "I feel he's done things in the past that we've not said anything about. I don't know if he realizes the County Board is the one that runs the government, not Mr. Bathon."

Homer Henke, R-Moro, agreed with Stille and said he's "had it up to here" with Bathon.

"He's had more press conferences in the last six months than Mark McGwire. The difference is McGwire calls them when he hits home runs, and Bathon calls them when he strikes out," Henke said.

Although Bathon wasn't at the board meeting, he said afterward that Stille and Henke "show their ignorance when they speak."

He said that many of the controversies he's been involved in since July have been the result of his attempts to run a progressive office. "I'm suggesting change. It makes me ill when I hear someone say it's worked for 50 years (so it shouldn't be changed)," Bathon said. "From a personal standpoint, obviously people are not happy with me."

State's Attorney Bill Haine spoke recently against Bathon's wish to store county payroll checks in his office and change the generic "Madison County" heading to read "Fred Bathon."

Haine and County Board Chairman Rudy Papa agreed that none of Bathon's publicized activities have been grounds for removal or even improper. However, officials with the Illinois State Police still are investigating accusations that Bathon accepted illegal payments from his employees while he was the county's auditor.

"I don't have any comments on Fred because it's still under investigation," Papa said. Some of Bathon's other public controversies since July include:

- Wes Tucker, Bathon's Republican opponent in the 1998 race for treasurer, said Bathon may have encouraged the County Board to vote to close the tax-supported county nursing homes.

- Tucker called for an independent audit of Bathon's financial statements, which an accountant from Edwardsville said were "based on faulty numbers." Papa said the board would not consider Tucker's proposal.

- Board members said Bathon lobbied them to pass an Elected County Officials pension plan, which has a loophole that cost Madison County taxpayers an additional $110,000 this year.

The board voted in March to support bills in the Illinois

Senate intended to halt the abuse of the pension plan. Board Finance Committee Chairman William Little said the proposed amendments to the ECO bill recently failed in a state legislative committee. "Bathon got the other officials to pass the ECO. Then we had a resolution to change ECO. He was just trying to make himself look good," Henke said.

- Bathon criticized Papa's appointment of H. Jack Frandsen as auditor, but officials have said it was not Bathon's job to criticize such a move.

- The slamming he did to the present auditor was absolutely unjustified," Henke said. Stille spoke up Wednesday against Bathon, even though he voted against Frandsen's appointment as auditor and against Papa's appointment as board chairman.

Bathon recently got into arguments with County Clerk Mark Von Nida over where payroll checks would be stored. Von Nida said Bathon received board approval to purchase new checks from the bank but didn't ask anyone whether he could change the generic county heading on the checks to read "Fred Bathon."

Von Nida said the checks, now stored in his office and unusable, cost the county about $2,000. "The county clerk is the one who made the decision to waste the money," said Chief Deputy Auditor Rich Hampton.

company who designed the kilns, so they are authorized. Yes, we do not have any union workers for electrical installation, but we did hire union sheet metal and millwright workers," he said. Reggie Sparks, an official with Pipefitters Local 553 of Wood River, also is looking into the labor concerns.

"All I can say is that we're trying to see who is doing the work," Sparks said.

Foreign workers anger area union officials

By Darryl Howlett
Staff writer

Some Wood River union leaders are upset with two companies for allowing foreign workers to complete jobs at the Enviro-Stone Products tile plant in the Enviro-Tech Business Park in Wood River. During Monday's tour of the tile plant by members of the Wood River City Council, union representatives addressed Terry Pinto, president of Environmentally Correct Projects Inc., which owns the Enviro-Stone site, about the type of jobs foreign workers were under contract to complete.

"There are a half-dozen foreign workers in there doing work American people can do," said Jack Tueth, business manager for the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers Local 649 of Alton. "This is an ongoing problem." Tueth said the workers from Italy, Russia and the Czech Republic are under contract by supervisory positions during some installation inside the plant, including the kilns that will convert glass into the type of tile jobs foreign workers were under contract to complete.

"Right now, we're getting hold of someone from the federal government. We had union electricians working there, and a couple of Italian and Russian workers kept wanting to do the work," Malone said. "They weren't supposed to do the work. The union contractor was then booted off the property. Now, a non-union firm is in there."

However, Malone said union officials were more concerned about the use of foreign workers. "We don't have as much a problem with the non-union workers than with Futuristic Tile Co. using the foreign workers to do jobs American union workers can do."

Futuristic Tile owns 10 percent of the plant, while Enviro-Stone Products owns 90 percent. Malone said a local non-union electronic firm has been hired to complete the electrical work inside the plant.

Malone said the foreign workers should not be working because they have improper visas. He said the workers carry supervisor and vacation visas, not working visas, and that the companies are trying to save money by not hiring union workers. Pinto said he is meeting with company officials to address the problem. "The foreign workers in the plant are installing special equipment that they are familiar with. They have to be there to do it," he said. "When our company purchased the equipment, hiring the installers was part of it."

Pinto said as many as 50 foreign workers are installing the kilns.

Steven J. Russell, general manager of operation for Enviro-Stone Products, said workers are carrying the correct visas.

"On their visas are instructions saying they may not accept unauthorized jobs. They were hired by the company who designed the kilns, so they are authorized.

Yes, we do not have any union workers for electrical installation, but we did hire union sheet metal and millwright workers," he said.

Reggie Sparks, an official with Pipefitters Local 553 of Wood River, also is looking into the labor concerns.

"All I can say is that we're trying to see who is doing the work," Sparks said.

Edwardsville YMCA celebrates kids

By Paul Mackie
Staff writer

Youngsters cringed April 10 as the egg that forgot to wear its seat belt splattered on the Edwardsville YMCA gym floor.

The frowning egg met its end when the eggmobile reached the bottom of the roadway ramp, but that was as bad as things got at the second annual CELEBRATE Kids Fair.

"It's very visual," said Susan Staub, who operated the display for Anderson Hospital's Glennon Care.

The display to demonstrate the importance of seat belts was one of the many popular attractions at the fair, which volunteers said was visited by nearly 500 children.

That number was up by about 200 from last year. The fun day was sponsored by the YMCA and Junior Service of Edwardsville/Glen Carbon.

CELEBRATE stands for "Creating Exciting Lifelong Experiences, Broadening Resources for Art, Theater and Exercise."

"This has been a huge success. Every year it grows," said Jenny Henkle, who co-chaired the event with Kay Hewitt and Kim Kim.

As students from Edwardsville High School and Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville played basketball with children, Henkle said, "Interaction is vital. We encourage the participation of area youths to serve as role models."

"There's also not enough opportunities for parents to interact with the kids," Hewitt said. "Usually, we're standing on the sidelines."

The parents appeared to have as much fun as their children. Hewitt had a rainbow painted on her face to brighten the YMCA because inclement weather forced all planned outdoor activities to be moved indoors.

Shawn Turner, the YMCA's fitness center director, coordinated a program that allowed children under 12 years old to work out on its exercise equipment, which usually is off-limits for youngsters.

Their project was to collectively reach 630 feet in stair steps, which is how much it would take to reach the top of the Gateway Arch. Each child was allowed one minute on the treadmill. If a child touched the ground, his or her stepping didn't count.

"The record (for one child) was 17 floors — 170 feet," Turner said. "We had to chase some out. They wanted to go all the way to the top by themselves, but we don't want any charlie horses tomorrow."

As the day neared its end, the children were just about to reach the top of "the Arch." Employees from Action One Dive Center of Edwardsville also were on hand to teach scuba diving and snorkeling in the swimming pool.

"This is something kids don't necessarily have access to."

counselor at Fort Zumwalt West High School said that even with all the programs, there will always be surprises. "You do the best you can, but you never know what's in the school with a gun, they can probably do it," Baldwin said. He said he has seen certain characteristics that can identify children who may be prone to violence.

"The first thing to look for is a child who is unable to cope, especially if the person is emotionally upset," Mattingly said. "Things to watch for are a history of violent behavior, depression, hopelessness, drug and alcohol abuse, a history of stress, or conflict with authority figures."

He said parents often are afraid to contact a school administrator if their child is having problems or is angry at school.

"Parents need to spend more one-on-one time with their kids, even just having dinner as a family. Parents need to establish an emotional connection with their kids to prevent these kind of things," Mattingly said.

Baldwin said one way to identify potential problems is to look for students who isolate themselves. "We look for kids who are angry, who have mood swings, or make threatening comments to other students or teachers," he said.

He said once those students are identified, the school counselor or other staff members make aware and maintains contact with the student.

Annual GCHS spring musical takes to auditorium stage

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

Granite City High School drama students will perform their annual spring musical, "My Fair Lady," beginning April 28.

The cast includes Jake Kampheofner as Henry Higgins, Amy Holland Pennell as Eliza Doolittle, Ryan Moenster as Colonel Pickering and Rich Skirball as Alfred P. Doolittle.

Performances will be at 7 p.m. Wednesday through Friday. The musical is adapted from George Bernard Shaw's play and Gabriel Pascal's motion picture "Pygmalion," with lyrics and music by Alan Jay Lerner and Frederick Loewe.

Numbers include "I Could Have Danced All Night," "With a Little Bit of Luck," "On the Street Where You Live," "Get Me To The Church On Time" and "I've Grown Accustomed To Her Face."

Director Mary Bright said

Tuesday that things were going well.

"We're adding the orchestra and adding the costumes, so there are a lot of adjustments, but we'll be fine," Bright said.

Bright added that they had to rent some of the costumes, which should arrive early next week.

"We have not done a real period-type piece here before, and I thought the students would enjoy it," she said.

"Considering the talent that was available this year, we thought this would be the best play to do."

The musical is choreographed by Margaret Holland Pennell. GCHS band director Ben Jackels will lead the orchestra and Beverly Scroggins is in charge of set and technical design.

Other cast members include Lora Smallman as Mrs. Pearce, Natasha Mangaracino as Mrs. Higgins, and Chris Singleton as Freddy Eynsford-Hill.

Also appearing are Megan Bilyeu, Michael Vivod, Jeff Karna, David Eliff, Joe Colyer, Tony Mell, Joe Laird, Andy Eliff, Jeremy Champion, Richy Woodard.

Justin Meagher, Andy Ravanelli, Camille Fensterman, Marc Johnson, Melissa Lueke, Amanda Boone, Amy Kriesch, Madrigal Vorce, Steve Kirkpatrick, Jennifer O'Bear.

Tom Petrillo, Julie Mills, Rosemarie Horsmann, Amanda Rogers, Katie

Serrano, Andrea Crook, Susan Baker, Kristen Lance, Sara Moutria, Shanna Keel, Lindsay Hendrix.

Tickets are $4 and can be purchased from cast members or at the door. For more information, contact GCHS at 451-5808.

Area administrators shocked by school shootings

By Angela Mueller
Staff writer

School administrators expressed shock and grief over Tuesday's killing spree at a suburban Denver high school, recognizing the unpredictable nature of such crimes.

"It's a very tragic incident," said Ed Hightower, superintendent of the Edwardsville School District.

"Our thoughts and prayers go out to the families," Hightower said the shooting was discouraging because there had been a decrease in fatal shootings at the nation's schools during the last year compared to previous years.

"Certainly, it causes concern in every school community," Hightower said. "No one is immune."

He also said school officials in Edwardsville work to try to prevent similar tragedies.

"We will certainly try to identify the young people in stressful and difficult situations and try to work with them to resolve the situation before we get to this point."

Hightower said he plans to meet with high school and middle school students to encourage them to take responsibility for reaching out to their families and peers when they have emotional difficulties.

"We want to encourage them to be responsible as far as helping us to be preventative," he said.

"We've been very fortunate in not having anything like this happen in our district, but no school is exempt," said Thomas Parker, superintendent of the East Alton-Wood River Community High School District.

"Anytime you have a large number of students together, it could happen," Mike Beaber, superintendent of the Alton School District, said the killings that occurred some 870 miles away from Alton brought the issue of violence in schools to the forefront for administrators across the nation.

"The situation that occurred today in Denver created serious concerns for families and school personnel all across America. No one really knows why students like this react the way they do."

Many local districts, including East Alton-Wood River, Alton and Edwardsville, have crisis prevention programs in place to help district personnel detect potential problems and know how to react in a crisis.

situation. In Alton, a crisis team made up of psychologists, social workers, nurses and other school personnel intervenes when a potential problem is identified. However, Beaber emphasized that a potentially violent student cannot always be identified before something goes wrong.

"We have all types of intervention programs, but sometimes the people who you never suspect have a problem."

The East Alton-Wood River districts, along with Roxana, Bethalto and Hartford, meet on a regular basis with police chiefs to discuss these types of crisis situations and to relay information about potential problems in the community.

"All we can do is do our best to keep our ears open and have constant contact with the students and community," Parker said. "Obviously we don't have a foolproof answer on how to prevent incidents like this. If we did, they wouldn't ever happen."

Parker said reports about potentially violent students are taken seriously and addressed quickly.

"If a student makes a threat, we take it seriously," Parker said. "We know it could happen at any time."

Tony Masinelli of Staunton said his brother, Trevor, lives in Littleton, Colo., and has a 13-year-old stepdaughter, Shoshana.

When they first heard about the shootings, Masinelli family members in Staunton couldn't remember whether Shoshana was in the eighth grade or was a freshman in high school, so they worried she might have been at the school where the tragedy occurred.

"When the news broke, the family initially panicked, and everyone stayed glued to the news," Masinelli said. "We eventually were able to contact my brother by phone and find out that everyone there was OK, and that was a tremendous relief."

Masinelli said Shoshana was in school at the time he spoke to his brother, noting that other schools in Littleton went on lockdown status after the shootings for security reasons.

"(My brother) was shaken. As the afternoon wore on, the reality of what was happening there was starting to settle in. I would describe him as a little bit numb."

He said family members were grateful Shoshana was safe.

"There was some serious fear going on there," he said. Staff writers Sanford J.

Schmidt and Steve Whitworth contributed information for this article.

Fire at house labeled suspicious

By Paul Mackie
Staff writer

A suspicious fire early Tuesday gutted a Glen Carbon house previously condemned by the village, police said.

The inside of the vacant house at 141 Sunset Ave. was burned badly when fire broke out at 5:01 a.m. Tuesday. Firefighters from the Glen Carbon Fire Department put out the fire after about three hours.

Last Thursday, Village Attorney Gary Peel filed a court order for an emergency demolition of the house. The owner, John R. Hampton, was instructed to either repair several rental-ordinance violations or see the house demolished. That request is pending.

"It's going to be a lot more difficult for him to fix it up now, unless he has insurance," said Hampton's attorney, Brian L. Ransom of Belleville.

Glen Carbon Police Chief David Bradford said the fire was suspicious, but he said police had no suspects.

Cougars showing progress

Program benefits from top-notch track facility

When the new state-of-the-art track and field facility went up at Southern Illinois University-Edwardsville in time for the U.S. Olympic Festival in 1994, it was believed the Cougars' track stock would rise considerably. SIUE would become a national power in the NCAA Division II ranks. That hasn't happened. It's going on five years now that the facility has become a source of pride not for SIUE and all of southwestern Illinois.

Considered one of the top track facilities in the country, SIUE has been host to many national competitions since its inception. National junior meets, a junior college championship, and, of course, Jackie Joyner-Kersey's farewell meet have followed the U.S. Olympic Festival event as major meets at the facility, now known as Ralph Korte Stadium.

Darryl Frerker came aboard four seasons ago as the head cross country and track coach for the men's and women's teams at SIUE. Mostly because of financial constraints, Frerker has had to grow his program very slowly. The Cougars are not to be feared among D-II programs.

However, if Saturday's results in the Great Lakes Valley Conference — at SIUE, of course — are any indication, it appears that the Cougars are, at least, headed in the right direction. SIUE was second in the women's division and fourth among the men.

"We're starting to fill the gaps," said Frerker, a Maryville resident. "We're starting to round out our squads."

Frerker said the women's team has 35 members this year, and the men's squad has 16.

"We're not only increasing our numbers but also our talent," Frerker said. "Our program is getting more money, which, of course, enables us to get the better athletes."

Frerker said he's now able to give "90 to 95 percent" of his track athletes some sort of financial aid, a far cry from when he started and had to count heavily on walk-ons.

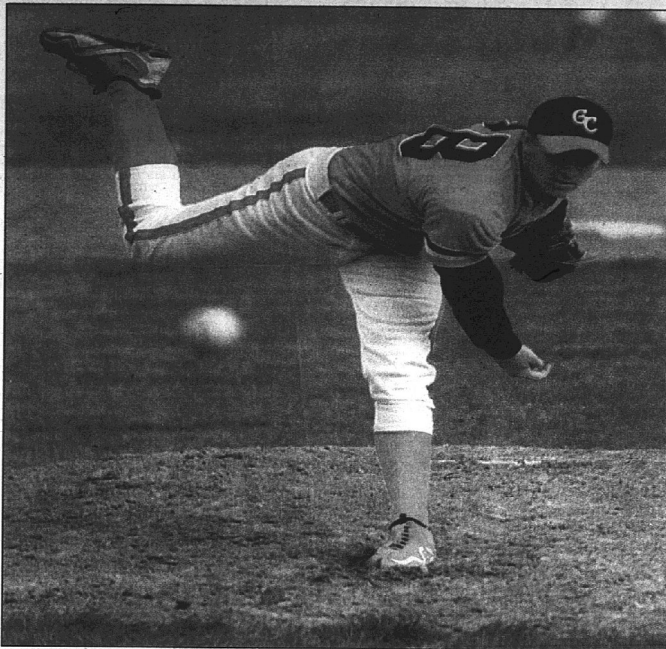

"We brought in 14 or 15 new women into the program this year alone," Frerker said.

The class of the freshman class has been hurdler Alexis Schweinberg, who is from Normal (Ill.) West High School. Schweinberg won the 400-meter hurdles in 1:03.38 in the conference meet Saturday to qualify for the NCAA Division II national championships, May 27-29 at Emporia (Kan.) State. She is the first woman to qualify for the national meet in Frerker's four-year reign as head coach.

She isn't expected to be the last one, either. Frerker believes he has five other women capable of qualifying for the nationals. They are juniors Mekelle Beck (Arzenville, Ill.) in the discus; Kelly Saunders (Eldorado, Ohio) in the javelin; and April Clendenin (Chester, Ill.) in the heptathlon, and freshmen Desiree Barcomb (Tampa, Fla.) in the long jump and heptathlon; and Darle Barr (Wilmington, Ill.) in the long jump.

Frerker said senior Bill Beckley (Bartlett, Ill.) in the

Warriors fall to Cahokia

Granite City scores just one run vs. Billups

By Rick Broome

The Granite City offense showed further sign of deterioration Tuesday afternoon as the Warriors dropped a 3-1 decision to Cahokia in Granite City.

PREP BASEBALL

Comanches starter Steven Billups struck out 12 and walked just two to record the complete-game victory.

The Warriors were able to get to Billups in just one frame the bottom of the third. Third baseman Jeff Schlecht opened the rally with a two-out single and reached second on a wild pitch.

Shortstop Devin Mayes followed with an RBI single to right field. But that was all the damage the Warriors could inflict on Billups.

The Comanches came right back in the top of the fourth with two runs. L.J. McIver singled to open the inning and advanced to second on a walk to Billups, who was subsequently picked off first by Granite City hurler Scott Scharden. Darius Smith delivered a double to scored McIver from second. Smith scored on a single by Dennis Adams.

The Comanches added their third run in the top of the fifth. Second baseman Drew Armstrong struck out, but reached first when Warriors catcher Tony Konaromi lost the ball at his feet. Armstrong scored on shortstop Kenny Diers' single to close out the scoring.

"We did everything right," Cahokia coach Joe Moore said. "We bunted the ball right, we made the defensive plays, we got some timely hitting and we got great pitching. (Billups) is a super pitcher — that's all you can say about him. With the strikeouts, so 12 is not far-fetched for him. He has been hurt, our No. 1 and 2 pitchers have both been hurt, but we got him back and we are going to make some noise in this area, really. We have a good defensive team. Our hitting is a little light, but it will come around."

Warriors compete in make-up meets

Granite City finishes fifth at Jerseyville

By Rick Broome
Staff writer

Finally, the weather cooperated. And with a couple precipitation-free days starting this week, the Granite City track teams took advantage of the dry spell to tuck in some make-up meets.

The Warriors girls competed Monday at the Tiger Relays at Edwardsville.

"It was a very competitive meet," Granite City coach Gene Briggs said. "We are looking at East St. Louis, Salem, Edwardsville, Cahokia, Belleville East, Belleville West, O'Fallon. All of those teams were very strong at this meet and they have a lot of good individual performers and team depth, so they were able to put together good relays.

"We ran some decent performances. They weren't all our best of the year, so that could have been better as far as our own personal records. We did achieve a few personal bests, but there certainly was room for doing better there. Possibly, getting more personal bests, we would have been able to get more places. But we did have a real strong finish in the medley, taking second. Our distance medley also showed very well, they got fifth. Our 4x100 sprint relay ran a very good time and got sixth. So those were our strong points."

"The rest of the events, there were some personal bests but not enough to put us into the group we were competing against as far as places. We were probably dissatisfied that we didn't place more, and probably also a little dissatisfaction that we didn't get more personal records throughout. But there were some minor victories, so it certainly wasn't a wasted meet."

The Granite City girls showed considerable improvement at Jerseyville's Panther Invitational on Tuesday. Edwardsville won the meet with 120 points, followed by Cahokia (100), Highland (83), and Jerseyville (73). The Warriors finished fifth with 60 points.

"We did a lot better," Briggs said. "So the teams that finished ahead of us are good, quality teams. But we felt good that we were competing in that pack. We had a lot of real good performances that we were happy with. And we were happy with the fact that we did well in the second meet in a row, going back-to-back with the

GIRLS SOCCER
Warriors finally knocked off Florissant (Mo.) McCluer North 1-0 at home Monday afternoon.

Diminutive sophomore Keri Ousley took a feed from Amber Hubert and popped the game-winner past Stars goalkeeper Joyce Moeller with just 4:52 remaining.

"I saw Amber with the ball right there and there was an open space so I ran into it and she played it," Ousley said. "I saw the keeper was over here (on the near side), so I played it to the far corner and it went in."

Granite City coach Gene Baker was pleased with Ousley's play in the win, which lifted the Warriors to 3-1-1.

"I told Keri after the last game that we need for you to step up and be the whole deal," Baker said. "We need you to mark somebody and we need you to still get from the 18 to the 18 and we need you to score once in a while. And she put it away nicely. That goalie is very good and Keri hit it side-netting. She took her time on it, saw it.

"We used Keri in a number of spots today and she held up so well. She has got good character in the game."

Ousley has been working through the kinds of nagging injury to return to the form which earned her plenty of varsity time last year as a freshman.

"When we first started practicing, it was kind of cold and my hamstring got strained," Ousley said. "It's not bothering me anymore, but I hadn't really had an injury before, so I was just trying to take it easy."

Granite City was 1-0-1 against Missouri teams heading into Wednesday's game against Frontenac (Mo.) St. Joseph's Academy on the road. The Warriors previously tied Incarnate Word of north St. Louis County.

"That's a good team," Baker said of McCluer North. "Ray (Stahl) is a terrific guy and he

Lutz throws one-hitter to lead Collinsville

Collinsville edges Redbirds for SWC win

By Brian Bretsch
Staff writer

Kenny Lutz fired a one-hitter Tuesday afternoon as the Collinsville Kahoks eked out a 3-1 victory against Alton at PREP BASEBALL.

Arthur Fletcher Flett went out and walked just two. He pitched himself in and out of a bases-loaded jam in the top of the sixth inning to help the Kahoks post the victory.

Collinsville, which advanced to 9-3, was clinging to a 2-0 lead when the Redbirds came to bat in the top of the sixth.

Zach Woolley, the No. 8 hitter, reached on an infield single for Alton's only hit. Pinch-hitter Stephen Nash reached on an error by Kahoks shortstop Dan Munoz. Jarid Mathenia walked on four straight pitches to lead the bases with no outs.

Collinsville coach Steve McFall paid a visit to Lutz. "I just went out and we set the situation up of what we were going to do, defensively," McFall said. "I just really said to him, 'We have got to throw strikes right here. We don't give it to them.' He did."

Lutz struck out Pat Gibson and Bryan Sisk for the first two outs of the inning. After a wild pitch allowed Woolley to score, Lutz got Joe Seymour to ground out to first baseman Adam Embick.

"The No. 4 hitter (Seymour) has a great at-bat," McFall said. "That is probably one of the great battles of the year. It really was a tremendous at-bat. We finally got him on a little groundball."

"That was probably the ballgame right there and then we came back in the next inning and I thought (Lutz) was really in control. I felt he had some real good stuff."

Lutz's performance overshadowed a strong outing by Matt Gates, who scattered six hits and struck out two. Six Kahoks batted fled out in the first four innings.

"I thought he was real good," McFall said. "We haven't seen the Gates kid but I like him. I like the fact that he is around the plate and he throws strikes. You have to give him credit. He is just a battler. That is the same kid who beat (Belleville) West, 3-2."

Collinsville scored its first run in the third inning. Keith Mumper reached on a fielder's choice and stole second base. Nick Jones' line-drive single scored Mumper.

The Kahoks added another in the fourth. Dan Munoz led off the frame with a double into the right-field corner. Lutz followed with an RBI single.

The Kahoks picked up an insurance run in the seventh.

Lutz led off the seventh with a single. Justin Wieduwilt pinch ran and scored from second when Justin Clayton's smash eluded Alton third baseman Matt Dornier.

Alton fell to 4-6 overall while the Kahoks improved to 3-2 in the Southwestern Conference race.

"In the last couple of years, we have been a pretty good second-half team," McFall said. "If we can get past East St. Louis, will come out of the first half 4-2 and we're in a good position. Edwardsville and East are playing each other today (East won and remained unbeaten). I just feel like the two games we played with them were really competitive. I feel like we could have gotten either one of those two games. We had an at-bat where we could have won both of those games and we didn't do it. I am pleased with how we are right now."

Warriors bats silent in loss to Cahokia

Helping Billups in his effectiveness was the continuing problem the Warriors are having on offense.

"We are not hitting the ball very well," Granite City centerfielder Kevin Elliott said. "We have to score more than one run per game. That pitcher is probably one of the best pitchers we have faced. We just couldn't put any runs on the board and when you can't score runs you aren't going to win. We just have to start hitting the ball."

"Three hits and 12 strikeouts — that's not very good, is it?" Granite City coach Gus Lignoul lamented. "He was an all right pitcher, but he threw mostly fastballs and through the first five innings we only had two hits. In five innings, the kid threw about 90 percent fastballs. When you only score one run and you only have two hits, and 12 times you don't even put it in play, everything else you do has got to be exactly perfect."

Schardan gave Granite City a chance, allowing just two runs on three hits in 3 1/2 innings. Sean Courtney closed out the last 3 1/2 innings.

"I thought Schardan didn't pitch as well as he was capable of pitching, but he only gave up two runs in 3 1/2 innings," Lignoul said. "They didn't hit the ball real hard on him, but his problem was that he only threw one pitch for a strike also. We counted and, other than the fastballs, he threw two breaking pitches which were strikes. So they sat back and they didn't hit it hard, but they hit it where we weren't."

"Defensively I thought we could have made a play or two that we didn't make. (Sean) Courtney came in and pitched, did a very nice job. But when you don't score runs and you don't hit the ball very well and you strike out that many times, it just makes it so hard. It makes the game just so much harder than it needs to be. Twelve of the 21 outs, they didn't even have to handle."

"I think the last run that scored was when we led off the inning by striking the kid out. That's where we want that pitch to be; we want it to be down and get him to swing at a pitch that he can't hit. It bounced away from the catcher and he couldn't find it. He kept it in front of him, but he just couldn't find it and that kid ends up scoring. That's kind of how our whole season has been. We just are not doing enough things well to win. We are making the game harder to play than it is supposed to be."

does a real good job of coaching the girls. I have a lot of respect for him; he is a great guy. His teams are always disciplined and they show a sense of what they want to do.

"I thought (Jessica) Vasiloff had a great game. I felt that our backfield was stabilized by Melissa (Montgomery), who wasn't feeling well, she had a little sickness. That's a bad time for that to come, but that's just the way she is, she hangs in there for you. Amber showed signs. Erin (Tyler) had a good learning experience and held up well. Natalie (Judge) has been playing well and Laura Canada came off the bench and gave us some spark. Maria (Roady) hit a decent ball that maybe goes, so that gives us a left foot if she can do the other things."

The Warriors had a pronounced case of the drag-steps Monday, until Ousley's heroics snaggled them out of their funk.

"We look so lethargic," Baker said. "But it's a good win for us, so we are happy."

The Warriors were to play against St. Joseph's Academy, the defending MHSAA state champion, without Erika Todd and Felicia Mohsen, who were suspended for six games for an off-field incident.

"Now we have a team much tougher with St. Joe's without those girls," Baker said. "But I'm proud of the ones that were present for this one. It was a good win for them. We'll be able to see our weaknesses, and they will be glaring in this type of game without those two girls. When we have Melissa and Erika at middle link, we move the ball so well. Then Felicia can go so many different spots. But these girls deserve to play. Kelly Mitchell got a lot of time in as a freshman and responded pretty well. So we are happy to get by against them."

Granite City girls place 5th in meet girls, and it was not just back-to-back but small events. These were major invitations. So you are running your good athletes in multiple events against good competition two nights in a row, so you don't always know what to expect.

"But our girls really did well. No one complained that they were all ready to go out and try it again. Some of them were a little bit fatigued from the night before, but we had a lot of very good performances and a lot of places."

"Our 4x100 placed fourth, our 4x800 placed fourth, our 4x200 placed fourth. Our 100-meter hurdler (Amber Ridgeway) was fourth, our two-miler (Angela Kromra) was fourth. We had a third-place from our mile, Sarah Foster. We had second places from Penny Meyer in the mile run and also our sprint medley team. Then we had a first place from Shannon Stapleton in the quarter-mile that with a couple of fifties and sixths that we got, and it came out to a pretty good team score."

"So not only is our team scoring in a lot of events, but we did have some good high places, which gave us a decent point total. Now, there is still definitely room for improvement. We definitely have people that will get better as we continue to work. We are certainly not satisfied with anything yet. But there are some bright spots and we are encouraged. It's pretty good."

The freshman and sophomore girls head to Edwardsville this afternoon, and the varsity girls compete in the Madison County Relays on Monday at Collinsville.

Prep football event game set for July 24

The 25th annual Illinois Coaches Association/Shrine All-Star Football Game will be played Saturday, July 24 at Peoria Stadium.

Through the first 24 years of the game, more than $600,000 has been raised for the Shrine Hospitals and Burn Institutes.

Local players invited are defensive linemen Mike Sharp (Cahokia) and Nathan York (Collinsville), linebacker Chris Whitaker (Althoff), offensive linemen Matt Schell (Edwardsville) and tight end John Wiemers (Edwardsville).

Tickets are $7 apiece and may be ordered from: All-Star Football, Box 1331, Bloomington, IL 61702-1331. For more information, call John Elder at (309) 482-5561.

Baseball clinic

An instructional baseball clinic is scheduled for 9 a.m.-1 p.m. Saturday, May 22 at the Family Sportsplex in Belleville.

The clinic is for kids ages 8-13, parents and little league coaches. Instructors include several major league scouts, former St. Louis Cardinals vice president and general manager Bing Devine, retired Cardinals pitcher Scott Terry and St. Louis University baseball coach Bob Hughes.

Event activities will include baseball fundamentals drills, a coaches/parents lecture session, a sports memorabilia silent auction and sports exhibit booths.

To register or for more information, call the Sportsplex at 277-7111 or clinic director Kevin McFarland at 394-8922. The cost is $30 per participant.

Baseball camps

Boys ages 7-17 can attend baseball camps this summer at Belleville Area College's Belleville campus. BAC baseball coach Neil Fiala will conduct his annual camps during June and July.

The cost of each of the two fundamentals camps will be $60. The cost of each specialized camp is $30. For more information, call the BAC athletic department at 235-2700, extension 5271; or 1-800-BAC-5131, extension 5271.

Bowling leagues

For more information, call St. Clair Bowl at 632-2400.

Collinsville was rained out last Saturday but Charlie Johnson made a memorable trip to the bowling alley, posting his first 300 game.

Johnson throws perfect game

Collinsville senior pitcher rolls his first 300 game

By Brian Bretsch Staff writer

Collinsville senior Charlie Johnson tossed the first perfect game of his athletic career Saturday afternoon and he never even had to throw a pitch.

Johnson was scheduled to pitch Saturday in the Kahoks doubleheader with Columbia. But the games were postponed because of a wet field and chilly weather conditions. Instead, Johnson went to St. Clair Bowl in O'Fallon to participate in a Saturday morning bowling league.

In his final game of the day, Johnson put together the perfect game. He rolled 12 consecutive strikes for his first 300 game. "I was kind of mad because I wasn't going to get to pitch," said Johnson, who finished 12th overall at the boys state bowling tournament in the winter. "I just wanted to go out and do something."

Johnson's repertoire on the mound includes a curveball, changeup and fastball. On the lanes, there is no doubt what works best for Johnson.

"I would have to say my curve," Johnson joked. "I wasn't throwing it straight." "During the second game I shot a 165, but I found a shot. I moved to the left, and I was swinging the ball out more. I struck in the 10th, 11th and 12th, and then I threw the next 12 so I had a streak of 15 in a row."

The perfect game comes on the heels of an even greater bowling accomplishment for Johnson. Two months ago, he threw his first 800 series with games of 290, 233 and 287. "The 800 is a better, but the 300 is something I always wanted," Johnson said. "The 800 series took some of the pressure off because I had a 290. When I shot my 800, it was still during bowling season. That kind of gave me my confidence right before I went to state."

Johnson said the success he had as a bowler has given him confidence when he takes the mound for the baseball team. "My attitude is a lot better this year," Johnson said. "Bowling helped get me ready and helped my nerves. I'm not nervous any more."

IHSA book reads like Tiger tales

Edwardsville High baseball prominent in state record list

(The following column was published in last week's Press-Record but was not run in its entirety.)

When Althoff High School ended Edwardsville High School's 49-game baseball winning streak Saturday in the second game of a doubleheader, it sent me to the Illinois High School Association record section on its web site to see where the latest Tigers' long winning streak stood in the annals of Illinois prep baseball.

I knew Edwardsville already owned the state consecutive winning streak, going 64 straight from April 18, 1990, to June 4, 1991.

The Tigers now own the second-longest winning streak as well, with the 49-game winning streak that included a 40-0 record last season when they won their second IHSA Class AA state baseball title.

The Tigers tacked on nine wins to start this season before being upended by Althoff 6-5. As you might imagine, the highly successful Edwardsville baseball program can be found often in the state record book, both in the all-time section, and, of course, in the state tournament section.

In addition to the state-record 64-game winning streak, the Tigers also own the Class AA record for most state titles with two. Their other state championship came in 1990. Amazingly, Edwardsville is the only two-time Class AA state champion in the 21-year history of the tournament. The Tigers also have posted more wins (11) than any other team in the Class AA state finals.

Other Edwardsville notable accomplishments at the state level include:

- 40 wins last season — fourth all-time for wins in a season;
- 29 wins in 1991 — sixth all-time for wins in a season;
- 51 consecutive wins during the regular season (1990-91) — first all-time;
- 15 shutouts in 1991 — tied for second all-time.

It's little wonder that the Tigers rolled to the 1990 state championship. In beating Chicago Simon 3-0, and Joliet Catholic 4-1, the Tigers had several notable accomplishments that make the IHSA record book.

Edwardsville's pitchers allowed only two runs in the tournament, allowed only one walk, struck out 29 batters, had an earned run average of 0.30 and allowed only one earned run in 23 innings. All of those pitching statistics are Class AA state tournament records. Also notable in the Tigers' run to the state title in 1990 was 23 stolen bases, including 15 in the semifinal win over Chicago Simon. Those marks are two more state records for the Tigers.

The architect of the Tigers' success was Tom Pile, who retired after last season. Heading into the 1999 season, Pile ranked No. 7 on the all-time win list among Illinois baseball coaches with 569 wins, including 506 at Edwardsville. Current Belleville West coach Chuck Hasenstab ranks No. 8 on the same list with 552 wins, while Larry Patton, who coached from 1967-93 at Belleville East, ranks No. 10 with 545 wins.

Individually, Edwardsville boasts the all-time winningest pitcher in one season in Ben Hutton, who won 18 games (against no losses) last season. He tied Bob Lomas of Chicago Marist, who won 16 games in 1978.

Tigers pitchers also rank on the consecutive-win list, with Jason Boyd (1991-92) tied for second with 29, Tom Price (1989-90) No. 4 with 26, and Joe Blasingm (1991-92) tied for fifth with 24. Freeburg's Dean Bruggeman also won 29 straight from 1991-94 to tie Boyd for No. 2 all-time.

While Edwardsville is the dominant area team in the record book, other 3A and 4A record-holders of note include Belleville (now Belleville West) with a state-record four state championships, tying two other schools. The Maroons won the first state championship in 1940 and added titles in 1947, '49 and '54. Interestingly, the Maroons won both their '47 and '54 championships with no-hitter performances. Lee Walters led Belleville in '47 by no-hitting Peoria Woodruff, and Rick Wagner no-hit Chicago Bowen in '54 to give the Maroons the state championship.

Besides Belleville and Edwardsville, the Metro East's only other multiple state winners are Collinsville (1941 and 1980AA) and Joliet Marquette (1980AA and 1984AA). Other area state winners were Granite City (1949), New Athens ('73), Carlyle ('81), Marissa ('86), Columbia ('87), Freeburg ('89), Althoff ('91) and Duplo ('95).

In Collinsville's 1980 championship, Mark Campbell won all three games for the Kahoeks. That, of course, is a state record, tying two others. He also pitched 15 innings, another state record, which was done by only one other pitcher.

Alton Marquette has been a dominant team on the Class A level. The Explorers are No. 1 in the state for Class A state final appearances with seven and are tied with three others for making the state three times. Marquette is tied for first with two other teams with two Class A state championships. Marquette also ranks second in wins with eight in the Class A state finals.

Regional elite teams forming for the Prairie State Games

Elite teams in basketball, soccer and volleyball are being formed for the Southwestern Regional elite teams forming for the Prairie State Games.

Four teams — open men and women and scholastic men and women — will be organized in each of the three sports. The open division is for players beyond the 12th grade, while the scholastic division is for players who are in grades 8-12 during the 1998-99 school year. A player must either be a resident of or attend school in Madison, Jefferson, Calhoun, Fayette or Bond counties to be eligible for the regional team.

Those players making the teams will compete against the state's 11 other regions at the PFG 12 finals, June 25-27 in southwestern Illinois. The fee to try out is $18, which includes a PFG souvenir T-shirt. Applications can be processed at the time of the tryout. Any athlete younger than 18 years of age must have his or her parent or guardian sign the waiver. Tryout times and/or contact persons are listed below:

Watson marks first birthday; gospel quartet performs Sunday

Hannah Watson celebrated her first birthday April 10 with a party given by her mother, Linda, and dad, Jim Merrell, at the Troy United Methodist Church fellowship hall.

Helping her celebrate were her maternal grandmother, Robyn Watson; her great-grandmother, Maxine Green; and her paternal grandparents, Jim and Margaret Merrell.

Also taking part were Christina Whitworth, Tom and Kathy Green, Keri and Kourtney Green, Helen Galloway, Irene Norkis, Trisha Grace, Jeff Sloop, Darleen Ackerman, Karen Keepes and family and Iris Price.

Also, David and Jessica Merrell, Jim and Shelia Trevor and Zachary Hall, Randy Jackie, Adam and Christina, Karl, Mark and Mavis Rednair, Abe and Jane Abrams, Jennie, Jill and Carol Parsons, Joan Eisenberg and Rita Brandt.

She received gifts from J.P. and John Perry, David, Kim and Amanda Mouldon, great-great-grandmother Lucille Martin and aunt Becky Green.

The gospel quartet Closer will be in concert on at 6:30 p.m. Sunday at Suburban Baptist Church, 2500 St. Clair Ave. The public is invited to attend.

The Tuesday Home League Women met in the chapel of The Salvation Army headquarters April 6.

The ladies have a variety of speakers and go on several trips each year to interesting places. Some of them belong to the League of Mercy and visit different nursing homes and have a music and worship service.

The guest speaker was Mrs. Patel, a lady from India who operates the Rise Inn Motel (formerly the Travel Inn Lodge). She had on display a skirt and blouse, handmade and covered with beads, and a handmade scarf that draped over the shoulders and was covered with many beads. Dorothy Stark and Dorothy Castleman celebrated birthdays. They received birthday cakes and shared them with Evelyn Miles, Birdie Meyenburg, Betty Melton, Gladys Freeman,

Maxine Green

Dorothy Haley, Joyce Moran, Myrtle Foster, Gertha Bradley, Ernestine Hahn, Luziel Scott, Doris Stark, Geraldine Clay, Hazel Melsenheimer, Ruth Rupperecht, Exie McKeel, Vickie Algre, Addie Mae Coleman, Noma McAmish, Marie Verbruyck and Maxine Rutter.

A fun time called Maxine's Madness is planned for the next meeting by Maxine Rutter.

The music ministry of Suburban Baptist Church performed the musical Family of God April 17 and 18. The musical included some Bill Gaither music with drama performed by Suburban's drama team.

There was a total of 400 persons in attendance for both nights' performances.

The Golden Agers of The Salvation Army held their monthly meeting in the Salvation Army chapel April 15. The main speaker was Pastor Gary Motta from Niederrhein United Methodist Church. He is a talented singer and is his very accomplished on the piano.

He sang several songs and then spoke about Joshua and Caleb and the 11 tribes that disappeared. He asked those present if anyone had a story attached to their name. Several people told about different things.

Doris Stark told about her grandmother's name being Mary, her sister's name being Martha and their younger brother being named Lazarus.

Earl Spalding, who is well-known for his quiet readings, recited "Down on My Knees." Five of the ladies put on a skit about hearing one's cross. Joyce Moran, who is known for her handcrafts, crocheted a small colorful cross to wear in each person's a cross.

The potluck meal was served in the dining hall after Castleman asked the blessing. A total of 265 people enjoyed the food and fellowship that followed.

As always, new members are needed and transportation to any meeting is provided by calling 451-7957.

The Christian Activity

Center is dedicated to serving children, youth and families for 109 years. It is currently being served by Michelle and Chet Cantrell.

Gail Feistrupe has been hired as CAC's nurse, teaching a wide range of health education classes to all ages. More than 400 children and youth received new clothing, coats, shoes and toys through the Adopt-A-Child program.

There is also an 8-year-old girl with sickle cell anemia for the past three weeks. Several direct donors having O-positive blood are being sought to help this family.

Call Chet at 874-5615 for information. If you wish to help, contact Lisa at the hematology department at BJC St. Louis Children's Hospital for testing, as her situation is becoming critical.

Maxine Green covers the social scene for the Granite City Press-Record. If you have an item you would like to see in this column, give Maxine a call at 931-6256.

Saturdays at Belleville Area College are special — just ask any of the folks who participate in the BAC Saturday Experience workshops, which provide area residents with the opportunity to take a variety of non-credit courses for self-enrichment. Kathleen Prochett, top left, of O'Fallon practices sketching a face from a picture in a magazine during Drawing for Beginners; T. French, above, of Collinsville practices her finger movements on the dulcimer, a three-stringed American folk instrument; as Mark Wood, left, joins her with his instrument, as does Jo Warren of O'Fallon. Mountain dulcimer is one of several music workshops offered at BAC.

Lloyd Johnson, above, of Belleville practices sketching a face in BAC's Portrait Drawing for Beginners class in his Saturday Experience. Rose Boswell sketches a face from a magazine as part of her exercise in the program, which boasts workshops ranging from arts and crafts to computers throughout the year.

Lecture Sunday at Mounds

Carol Lasky will present a free lecture Sunday on native American cultures at Cahokia Mounds State Historic Site.

Her lecture, "Dynamics of Northwest Coast Art: Masks, Totem Poles and Bear Mother," will be presented at 2 p.m.

For many years, Lasky has studied native cultures, specifically those on the Northwest Coast.

Bill Iseminger, a spokesman for the center, said Lasky is a compelling and dramatic professional speaker.

"In her talk she discusses how to identify objects from that area, and the meaning of figures and symbols that dominate art from the region," he said.

A display titled "Mounds of the Eastern U.S." continues at the center through Sunday. It features maps, photographs and other information about the 24 mound sites built by different cultures in the Eastern Woodlands between 3500 B.C. and 1700 A.D.

The exhibit examines Illinois sites, as well as those in other states such as Wisconsin, Iowa, Arkansas, Tennessee and Mississippi. Guided tours are offered Saturdays and Sundays in April, starting at 1:30 p.m.

Comedy
'Life' tops at box office

Breaking out at the box office with $20.7 million, the Eddie Murphy-Martin Lawrence prison comedy "Life" knocked the Gothic sci-fi adventure "The Matrix" into second place, estimates showed.

"Life," which features Murphy and Lawrence as innocent men who use humor to cope with life sentences in a notorious Mississippi prison farm, had the third-highest opening of 1999, Exhibitor Relations Co. Inc. reported Sunday.

It was an impressive showing for Murphy, who seems to alternate flops and winners. The actor's "Holy Man" bombed last fall with a paltry total gross of $12 million, while "Dr. Dolittle" garnered $144.1 million during the summer. That followed the bomb "Metro," which had $32 million in ticket sales.

"The success comes from a combination of both stars," said Nikki Rocco, head of distribution for Universal, which released

Patricia Arquette in a scene from "Goodbye Lover."

'Goodbye Lover' interesting, but confusing comedy/thriller

"Image is everything," is the battle cry Ben Dunmore offers in the dark comedy/thriller "Goodbye Lover."

Apparently, it's also the motto of the people who made this film. They've created a visually sleek, often clever movie that's too caught up in the way it looks to realize it is taking a few plot twists too many.

MOVIE REVIEW

an older, smarmy public relations executive version of his Sonny Crockett character on "Miami Vice." He's perfectly tanned and coifed at all times, and he has an insatiable sexual appetite — especially for young female co-workers.

Ben is having a kinky affair with Sandra (Patricia Arquette) — churchgoing real estate agent by day, sociopath nymphomaniac by night. She has listened to her Anthony Robbins self-help tapes so many times, she can recite the words along with him. And her propensity for cranking up "The Sound of Music" soundtrack for inspiration makes Julie Andrews' sweet soprano sound like pure evil.

Sandra is married to Ben's younger brother Jake (Dermot Mulroney), who also works at the PR firm but lately has had a little trouble showing up sober at the office. Even when he's throwing drunken tantrums, he still looks fashionable.

One night, Jake discovers the affair, goes berserk and threatens to throw himself from the balcony of his high-rise apartment. But when Ben rushes there to try to stop him, somehow Ben ends up taking the plunge. And whaddya know — Ben had taken out a $2 million insurance policy, with Jake as the sole beneficiary.

Sorting through all the scheming is Detective Rita Pompano, played by Ellen DeGeneres with a bad mousey-brown dye job that makes her look like Alice, the maid from "The Brady Bunch." She's the cynical, quick-witted cop who says she joined the force because, "Every once in a while I get to shoot someone."

Mirrors are everywhere to highlight the characters' narcissism. They constantly catch their own reflections in a rearview mirror, a store window, a glass tabletop.

Other images are disjointed. We see Jake through a camera viewfinder while he and Sandra are having sex — and meanwhile, she's watching herself in a handheld mirror. Ben spies Sandra through beveled glass at a garden party.

All of this is visually stimulating, and the technique enhances the film's edgy feel. But it works only slightly to disguise the fact that, somewhere along the way, the plot gets too confusing. Some twists are creative, but others are jarring, forcing you to stop paying attention to figure out what just happened.

'Contagion'

opens at college

By Mary Schirmer
Correspondent

When Sara Shalom Scharrer landed the lead in "Contagion of the Night," a multimedia play at St. Louis Community College at Forest Park, she got the chance to display her acting, singing and dancing talent.

"I love the opportunity to become someone else; it's very freeing," Scharrer said. "And the opportunity to express emotions that I wouldn't necessarily act out in my own life is very therapeutic, I guess."

The 23-year-old Dogtown resident plays Mother Superior, Sister Margaret, in a workshop production of a dark comedy about the millennium, written by St. Louisan Paul Guzzardo. "Contagion" will run through Sunday in the Mildred E. Bastian Performing Arts Center, 5600 Oakland Ave.

"The character has this intense internal struggle," Scharrer said. "The thing is that she's an extreme idealist in a world that's absurdly not ideal."

Multimedia means that the audience will be treated to live actors along with videotape and music prepared just for this play.

A workshop performance means that the writer and the director are molding the script during rehearsals. This creates a particular challenge for the actors.

"It's a very different work environment than I've ever been in before," said Scharrer, whose college acting credits include "Antigone," "Barefoot in the Park" and "Blythe Spirit."

"It's (Contagion) a workshop, so there's not a set script."

The director, Ian Belton, came from New York to work with this piece. He cast Scharrer because of her ability.

"She's incredibly talented," Belton said. "She's transformative."

General admission tickets for "Contagion of the Night" are $4 adults, $2 seniors and students, and free with a St. Louis Community College ID. Show time is 8 p.m. April 21-24, and 3 p.m. April 25. Parking remains available in the lot of the former Arena.

Hollywood's Old West exciting

Reality did not match the image though

By Kevin Carbery

Trivia

Mention the Old West and people think of a mythic time of cowboys and Indians, cattle drives, saloons, the Pony Express and gunfights. It certainly was an interesting period in our nation's history. The Wild West days occurred roughly during the 1800s, when there was little in the way of authority figures west of the Mississippi outside of the big cities.

There were famous lawmen patrolling the prairies. However, it's questionable whether you were any better off running into the Earps than the James brothers.

While thoughts of unclaimed land and almost unlimited freedom no doubt lured many Easterners to Texas, the Dakota Territory and California, they surely found a hard way of life when they reached their destinations. There were no convenience stores.

The Sioux and the Cheyenne apparently were none too happy to see settlers moving into their neighborhoods.

Merely finding drinking water was a difficult task in many places.

Hollywood made the Old West seem like an exciting time to be alive. Who wouldn't want to be John Wayne, a tough guy who depended on no one? The movies also made cavalry charges look as though they were the most thrilling events ever.

The reality did not match up to the images, however. A cowboy worked long hours for low pay.

The Indian tribes were some of the most mistreated people in history. There was horrible prejudice against blacks, Orientals and the Irish. In many cases, men made heroes by serial writers were, in fact, sociopathic killers.

For this week's trivia quiz, the topic is the Old West.

1. Geronimo was a leader of which Indian tribe?

2. Henry McCarty became a famous Western outlaw known by what name?

3. George Armstrong Custer was born in what state?

4. What was the motto of the Pinkerton National Detective Agency?

5. The Central Pacific Railroad and the Union Pacific Railroad met at what site in 1869 to form the first transcontinental railroad?

6. "Wanted — Young, skinny, wiry fellows not over 18. Must be expert riders to risk death daily. Orphans preferred," was an ad for what job?

7. What Mexican military leader led the attack on the massacre at the Alamo?

8. Samuel Maverick made his fortune in what line of work?

9. Sharpshooter Annie Oakley was married to what other marksman?

10. Rain-in-the-Face was a warrior for which tribe?

ANSWERS: 1. The Apache. 2. Billy the Kid. He was shot and killed at the age of 21 by Sheriff Pat Garrett in 1881. 3. Ohio. He was killed in 1879 at the Battle of the Little Big Horn. 4. "We Never Sleep." The Pinkertons were used in tracking down wanted men across the continent. 5. Promontory, Utah. 6. Pony Express riders. 7. Gen. Antonio Lopez de Santa Anna. 8. As a cattleman. 9. Frank Butler. 10. The Sioux.

Car show will benefit hospitals

'Cars for Cures' set for this weekend at Marketplace

By Glen Sparks
Staff writer

Some pretty hot wheels will be on display this weekend in the St. Louis Marketplace parking lot.

The second "Cars for Cures" car cruise show benefits the Children's Miracle Network of Greater St. Louis, an organization that raises funds for Cardinal Glennon Children's Hospital and St. Louis Children's Hospital.

Street machines including classic Ford Mustangs and 1934 Packards are scheduled, along with the United Black Drag Racers, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

Visitors to the Marketplace also may enjoy amusement rides, music and a barbecue from 5 to 10 p.m. Friday, April 23.

The rides and other events continue Saturday until 10 p.m. and Sunday until 6 p.m.

Linda McMenomy, a marketing representative for Sam's Club, 6700 Manchester Ave. in the Marketplace, said she organized the Cars for Cures last year as part of Sam's annual fund-raising efforts for the miracle network.

Retailers throughout the Marketplace support Cars for Cures, McMenomy said.

"Everyone really enjoyed it," she said. "The guys in the car clubs really got behind it."

Last year, Cars for Cures raised $2,500 for Children's Miracle Network. The one this year is two days longer. Now, McMenomy just hopes the fickle spring weather cooperates.

"In the morning I thought we were going to have great weather, and then it rained," she said.

The event raises money for Children's and Cardinal Glennon through donations from the car owners, raffles and from a percentage of money the vendors collect.

Visitors to Cars for Cures also will have a chance to obtain a special one-day trial membership card to Sam's Club for a $1 contribution to Children's Miracle Network of Greater St. Louis.

Horoscope

THURSDAY, APRIL 22

The moon enters flashy Leo this morning, and everyone expects a show. Public image is of increasing importance. With the sun in luxury-loving Taurus and the moon in lavishly spending Leo, many will dip too deeply into their reserves. Remember, good style doesn't always mean spending a lot; having too much can sometimes hinder your ability to make stylish choices.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (April 22). Realizations make this year exciting. A skill you've been keeping under wraps turns out to be very much in demand. In-laws are much more generous after a current relationship improves in May. Singles find love while shopping or on short trips in June. Your best signs are Leo and Scorpio. By next year, you'll be able to buy your dream home.

ARIES (March 21-April 19). Surprise interest from higher-ups at work sparks a fire in you that shows off your great potential. Get to the bottom of romantic issues before sundown. People will tell you the feelings they have been hiding if you prod a bit.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). A love relationship needs a boost in the communication area. Written material brings good luck. Trying to please two people at once is impossible. Be aware of a neighbor's attempt to cause a squabble.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). Sensational news puts you in an enviable position. A decision concerning a money investment must be made soon. Withhold advice from a friend until it is requested. Consider a professional change.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). Being blunt is the only way to deal with a dominating relative. A child seeks help in achieving an athletic goal. Get to the bottom of financial entanglements even if you must request an audit or buy a bookkeeping program.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). Your social life takes a whole new direction with a new circle of friends. Your budget needs revamping; ask the advice of a Virgo. You master an athletic skill with the help of a potential love interest.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). Your comments spark creative energy. Admit a fear to a loved one, and the result will amaze you. Postpone financial settlements until more research can be done on the numbers and the results.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23).

WalkAmerica kicks off at 9 a.m. Saturday

The March of Dimes' 29th WalkAmerica will be Saturday. The event raises funds to support the March of Dimes mission to save babies. More than 500 residents are expected to walk with company teams or as individuals to raise approximately $50,000. The walk begins at 9 a.m. at three locations: Melvin Price Park in Swansea, Edwardsville Middle School and Gordon Moore Park in Alton. Registration starts at 8 a.m. Walkers are served refreshments and are given premiums at checkpoints throughout the route and at the finish line. Sponsors are hoping to have 2,100 participants at the three Illinois locations.

Try to be patient with a lover who is undecided. A misunderstanding is cleared up by the afternoon. You find bargains when you shop farther from home. Don't defer a payment; take care of it at once.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). Be sensitive to the circumstances surrounding a friend or relative. Accompany the group on a special outing. You save money on transportation. Family members are enthusiastic about your latest love.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). Important details slip your mind unless you write them down. A change in your usual routine allows you to spend more time with family members. Stock up on necessary items. A new love is handy around the house.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). The more work you do, the more you are paid. Heed a friend's recommendation, and you really get your money's worth. You bump into a love interest when you least expect it. Give a last attempt your best shot.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). Because you are so good at explaining what you need, lovers are particularly attentive. Rules on the domestic front should be updated. A former teacher or mentor wishes to reconcile. Music creates the mood for a social event.

Top movies include old classics, recent releases

Italian neorealism. Grainsy black and white gives the movie the feel of a documentary.

"CASABLANCA" (1942): We'll always have Paris, and "As Time Goes By" will never fade. Humphrey Bogart. Ingrid Bergman. Sydney Greenstreet. Claude Rains. Paul Henreid. Peter Lorre. Dooley Wilson. War. Nazis. Love. Honor. Valor.

"CITIZEN KANE" (1941):

Orson Welles' masterpiece employed outstanding film techniques such as lifelike "deep focus" and quick cuts, and had cinematography of Gregg Toland.

"DUCK SOUP" (1933): Incredible satire. The Marx Brothers at their best: Check out the mirror scene.

"THE GODFATHER" (1972): Francis Ford Coppola's masterful epic about a Mafia family. Brilliantly acted, filmed and directed. The Corleone family saga continues in the equally excellent "The Godfather, Part II."

"GONE WITH THE WIND" (1939): Scarlett and Rhett. Prissy and Mammy. Melanie and Ashley. 'Nuff said.

"THE GRADUATE" (1967): A beautifully crafted comedy from Mike Nichols that tweaked the generation gap.

"THE GRAND ILLUSION" (1937): A lyrical and eloquent film from Jean Renoir, that goes beyond an exploration of war to embrace themes of class and character.

"GREAT EXPECTATIONS" (1946): David Lean's exceptional translation of the Dickens novel. A stunning blend of characters, story, place and time, rich in detail and haunting images.

"HIGH NOON" (1952): Intense, psychological Western with a peppy theme song from Tex Ritter, "Do Not Forsake Me, Oh My Darlin'," and a mesmerizing performance by Gary Cooper.

"LAWRENCE OF ARABIA" (1962): Another David Lean masterwork. Who can forget the scene that introduces Omar Sharif to the film: A dot on the desert horizon grows larger and larger until it becomes a man on a thundering horse, his Bedouin robes fiercely flapping in the breeze. Great cinematography and thrilling performances, led by Peter O'Toole.

"M" (1931): Fritz Lang's early talkie is a terrifying tale about a child killer. Shadow and light were never used more memorably. Peter Lorre's character, trapped by a mob, screams over and over, "I can't help myself!"

"POTEMKIN" (1925): A Sergei Eisenstein film that runs just over an hour about the Russian upheaval in 1905. The Odessa steps sequence was copied by Brian De Palma in "The Untouchables."

"PSYCHO" (1960): An icon of horror. Alfred Hitchcock draws us into the dark Bates Motel (every room with shower), run by Anthony Perkins, cold as a knife blade. Bernard Herrmann's score adds excruciating tension.

"SNOW WHITE AND THE SEVEN DWARFS" (1937): The first animated feature, Walt Disney's lambent take on a fairy tale. Even if you can't name all the dwarfs, you still remember their faces.

"SOME LIKE IT HOT" (1959): Musicians Jack Lemmon and Tony Curtis, witnesses to a mob hit, flee by joining an all-female band.

"STAR WARS" (1977): Talk about a hip "Flash Gordon." High tech cliffhangers, fun, adventure, cool imagination and very special effects from George Lucas' magic kingdom.

"THE WIZARD OF OZ" (1939): A Kansas cyclone spins Judy Garland over the rainbow to a magic world that only reminds her, "There's no place like home." Unforgettable turns by Bert Lahr, Ray Bolger, Jack Haley and Margaret Hamilton as the quintessential witch.

Comedy tops at box office

the film. "They play well off each other. It's just a good time, without the special effects and action of other films."

"Life" had the second-highest opening of April behind "The Matrix," which pulled in $18.1 million over the weekend. The futuristic Keanu Reeves thriller, about a computer hacker who discovers humans are unwitting slaves to machines, has earned $99.1 million and is expected to be the first 1999 movie to top the $100 million mark Monday.

Despite the end of spring break, young audiences also flocked in respectable numbers to the Drew Barrymore high school comedy "Never Been Kissed," which had $8.7 million for third place.

Though languishing in a post-"Titanic" funk for most of the year, the box office was 13 percent higher than last year due to the popularity of the top three films.

The end of spring break may have harmed other youth-oriented films such as "10 Things I Hate About You," the loose adaptation of Shakespeare's "The Taming of the Shrew" that lost 27 percent of its audience in its third week. It was fifth with $3.7 million.

The mob comedy "Analyze This," another breakout hit of the year, collected $4 million for fourth, bringing in a total of $91.2 million in seven weeks of release.

The Steve Martin-Goldie Hawn comedy "The Out-Of-Towners" had $3.2

million for sixth and the critically praised rave-scene film "Go" lost 36 percent of its business to finish seventh with $3 million after a disappointing opening last weekend.

The Sandra Bullock-Ben Affleck romance "Forces of Nature" had $2.6 million for eighth.

"Hideous Kinky," Kate Winslet's unconventional follow-up to the blockbuster "Titanic," did well in limited release with an impressive per-screen average of $8,600. It stars Winslet as a free-spirited woman who moves to Morocco in the early '70s.

Two big winners at the Academy Awards continued to pad their grosses. Best picture "Shakespeare in Love" collected $1.9 million for ninth place and best foreign-language film "Life Is Beautiful" grossed $1.7 million.

"Cookie's Fortune," Robert Altman's quirky Southern tale of a bogus murder investigation after the suicide of a lonely old woman, was No. 10 with $1.8 million.

Another new movie was "Goodbye Lover," starring Patricia Arquette as a platinum-blond femme fatale in a comedy noir tale. It had $1 million after opening in 865 theaters.

Ron Howard's comedy "EDtv," one of the year's biggest disappointments, plunged 51 percent to collect only $1 million with a paltry per-location average of $655.

Estimated grosses for Friday through Sunday at North American theaters, according to Exhibitor Relations Co. Inc.

1. "Life," $20.7 million.
2. "The Matrix," $18.1 million.
3. "Never Been Kissed," $8.7 million.
4. "Analyze This," $4 million.
5. "10 Things I Hate About You," $3.7 million.
6. "The Out-Of-Towners," $3.2 million.
7. "Go," $3 million.
8. "Forces of Nature," $2.6 million.
9. "Shakespeare in Love," $1.9 million.
10. "Cookie's Fortune," $1.8 million.

EHS to hold graduation at SIUE

Edwardsville High School students and their families will keep cool of body and spirit during graduation ceremonies June 5.

"It is our plan to hold graduation at SIUE Vadalabene Center," Superintendent Ed Hightower said.

Last year, Hightower suggested it would be nice to hold the school's first-ever graduation in the new gym.

The idea stirred controversy because many students were concerned about the lack of air conditioning and limited seating space.

Opponents held petition drives; and the School Board held lengthy, spirited discussions at two meetings.

At first, the board locked in a 3-3 vote, failing to approve switching commencement exercises from EHS to Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. Three board members later changed their minds, agreeing to the plan.
